SHOT A WOMAN THEN HIMSELF

Mabel Tebbetts May Die of Many Wounds.

LEWIS SHOT AND STABBED HER

THEN HE TURNED KNIFE AND PISTOL ON HIMSELF.

Robert E. Lewis, Angered at the Woman's Threat to Desert Him Saturday, Sought Her Life and Then His Own.

Swift and terrible punishment, followed by the attempted suicide of her assallant, was meted out 'o Mabel' Tebbetts of 205 North Nineteenth street Saturday morn ing, when Robert E. Lewis, with whom she had been living, fired a bullet into her left breast and then after empting the revolver in an effort to kill himself, drew a butcher knife from his pocket and stabbed her about the neck, chest and Jealousy, prompted by the woman's re-fusal to live with him longer, prompted Lewis' desperate de d. Both are now at the City Hospital. Dr. Nietert thinks the woman's chances for recovery are only slight, but says Lewis may get well. may get well.

Lewis shot himself twice, one bullet lodging in the back of his head, the other entering over the right eye and destroying the sight completely.

When Patrolman Edward Cullen arrived at the house Lewis had gone into the alley, where he stood with the knife in his hand awaiting the officer. When the patrolman attempted to take the weapon from him Lewis made a lunge at his neck. Cullen stepped back and drawing his re-volver fired two shots, Neither of them took effect.

Lewis Then Stabbed Himself.

Lewis then turned the knife on himself, inflicting severe wounds on the neck and chest.

Mabel Tebbotts is 26 years of age. Her parents live at Waferloo, Ill., and she has a half-brother, Joseph Kipping, who conducts a salcon at 160 South Nineteenth street. Lewis' home is in Farmer City, Ill., where his wife and 6-months-old child now are. For a year and a haif he served as a corporal in Troop G of the Fifth United States Cavalry, stationed at Dallas, Tex. He received his discharge last November. According to his statement he came to St. Louis early in last May looking for work. While here he met Mabel Tebbetts, and an attachment was immediately forned.

The charter amendments, to be submitted to the voters of the city at a special election on October 22, are designed to accomplish three principal objects.

The erection of public buildings, the reconstruction of streets and the building of sewers, all impossible under present conditions, will be made possible if the amendments receive the approval of a majority of votes cast at the October election.

The rate of general taxation will not be raised by the passage of the amendments. Neither will the city's bonded debt be increased.

The amendments, if passed, will make it possible for the city to create by special taxation a fund for public buildings, if such a special tax shall be voted at a special election.

MODERN WOODMEN SAY KERR THEN THEY VOTED TO ADVER-SHOT HIMSELF PURPOSELY.

Peculiar Interest Is Given Case Be- Ex-Minister John Barrett May Reprecause Shot Was Fired While Missouri Bigamy Requisition Was Being Served.

At the next session of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis Judges day morning. Caldwell, Sanborn and Thayer will be called on to decide whether the death of James Kerr, a prominent citizen of Manila, Io., at his home July 27, 1897, was suicide or an accident.

surance policy for $3000 in the Modern Woodmen of America will cause the review by the appellate judges of the unusual story of Kerr's death, involving, as it does, a charge of bigamy.

Kerr's death was caused by a bullet from own pistol, fired in an upper room of his home while Prosecuting Attorney W. C. Irwin of Milan, Sullivan County, Mo., watted in the parlor below with a requisition for him from the governor of Missouri.

Kerr was a contractor and builder at Manila. He was about 40 years old and a member of the Masonic fraternity and the Presbyterian Church.

He had lived at Manila about two years and one-half prior to his death, and had a good reputation in the little town.

He was secretary of the Manila Lodge of the Modern Woodmen, No. 2843, had a little bank account and was building a new home for himself and wife.

Kerr Received Unwelcome Visitor.

While Kerr was superintending the contruction of this building July 13, 1897, James H. Stirling of Milan, Sullivan County, Mo., drove up in a buggy.

ty, Mo., drove up in a buggy.

He told Kerr, so he afterwards stated under oath, that he wanted him "to return some of the money he had taken away with him" when he left "his wife and three children" at Milan five years before.

Kerr was not pleased with his visitor, but he accompanied him to a quiet place and they had a long talk.

According to Stirling's testimony, Kerr gave him $35 and told him he would forward $100 more in a few days.

Incidntally. Stirling swore, Kerr declared that he wasn't afraid of any trouble Stirling might cause him.

Stirling returned to Milan with the $25. He waited three days, but the $100 did not some.

Mrs. Kerr's attorneys questioned the authenticity of this memorandum. She herself denied the story of the defense's with masses that Kerr endeavored to withhold from her the real reason of Irwin's visit of the house on the day of his death. She said he told her that he came to take him to Missouri on a charge of bigamy, but that he had enough money to get out. She sapressed the belief that the shot that tilled him was fired accidentally.

AMERICAN LEAGUE. icago.

BY J. E. WRAY, Sporting Editor of the Post-Dispatch ipecial to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Disorganization with the St. Louis team is proceeding rapidly—in the imagination of some clairvoyant he is in the box, the Cardinals should in the imagination of some clairvoyant critics.

The club has been disintegrating all season, according to these, and gangrene is expected to set in shortly.

It has been reported that several members of the team would leave during its present trip.

Up here in Chicago it is difficult to discover symptoms of the disorder that is supposed to be afflicting the players.

To all outward appearance everybody is on good terms with everybody else. Salaries are still high and according to Mr. Heilbronner are being earned by the men to the satisfaction of the management.

If there is trouble, surface indications are absolutely wanting.

Heilbronner went out to the American League bail game Friday afternoon with several of the players. That does not look like a meeting against him.

The only possible foundation for the rumor appears to be a report that Manager Heilbronner had refused to issue passes to several players, Capt. Donovan among the number.

Mr. Heilbronner admitted that he had refused passes to several of the men, but only after they had exceeded the number allowed them by the rules of the club. The players, to a man, he said, took it in good warm.

Mr. Casey is a warm discusser—or discussion warm.

payers, to a man, he said, took it in good part.

Mr. Casey is a warm discusser—or discurser.

Donovan and Heilbronner, with the Post-Dispatch representative, and several players, spent the afternoon together, and no signs of anything but perfect amity between the captain, players and the manager appeared.

If Donovan can stand to be turned down on passes, the others surely can.

Heilbronner stated that no other club in the League was as liberal in this matter as the St. Louis.

Some of them, he stated, issue no passes to players at all.

"The club has a rule," he added, "and the players understand it. Frequently I go beyond it to favor them, and when I don't they always take it in good part."

Men Are in

The physical condition of the team is ex-ellent. Every member of the 15 players in perfect shape, Murphy's finger ex-Jack O'Connor's jam must have been harder even than the public supposed it to be.

Murphy's digit, however, is expected to be in shape for Sunday's game.

The team ought to be in good shape. The men rise early, eat heartily and retire at seasonable hours.

Donovan's crew has the games at Pittsburg in mind and is getting in shape for a hard struggle with the Pirates.

a hard struggle with the Pirates.
The Smoky City men will meet the Cardinals after the latter have come off a long railroad trip.
That is not a great disadvantage.
The time honored myth that a night on the road caused the physical undoing of a great, husky, healthy ball player is exploded.

a great, husky, healthy ball player is exploded.

Robison says that his men never suffer from night trips on the train.

When the trip is a protracted one in hot weather, the men are apt to be listless at start; but in the majority of cases they are as fresh as if the night had been passed at home.

The average ball player is not a highstrung Italian greyhound by any means. He is, for the most part, a hard-muscled strong-framed, tobacco-chewing man. His swaddling clothes are quite gone and his bottle of half and half (condensed milk and water we believe to be the ingredients) has long been set aside.

Cardinals Are

Not Tenderfeet.

Like Mr. Philip Pirrip, he has been "brought up by hand" and received many knocks in the course of his rearing.

Why a comfortable berth in a palace car should incommode him so seriously as heretofore supposed is hard to perceive. If the Cardinals were a troupe of brakebeam artists traveling from town to town on the neutral side of a boxcar, not far from the grease boxes, one might reasonably expect them to be somewhat off color after a journey.

managers and players are still riding several feet above the trucks, and no player has to pick splinters out his shoes when destinations are reached.

The players have little excuse on the traveling score.

It is hoped none will be needed on any grounds after the Pittsburg series.

The Chicago press appears to be conspiring in favor of St. Louis.

All season the papers here have been publishing the Cardinals' percentage as one game beter than it really is.

On the arrival of the St. Louis contingent in the Windy City the Chicago press had the Cardinals planted safely in second place, notwithstanding that Philadelphia, by defeating Brooklyn, had passed the Mound City team's percentage.

It was gratifying to see the team in second place, but disheartening afterwards to discover that it was not deserved.

It is also interesting to discover that Suchoff's name is "Joey." A full account of how "Joey" pitched a good, though losing contest, against Chicago, may be bought for I cent, mailing extra.

Jesse Burkett was on the safe side of 16 to 1 shot at Hawthorne, Friday afternoon. Tammany Chief carried his money and Jesse cashed with great gusto, having been rolled under in all the previous races.

Harper Pitches Saturday's Game.

Pitcher Harper will be in the box Saturday against Eason.

Mr. Casey is a warm discusser—or discurser.

He may even have strong claims to being the same thing without the first syllable.

"You fellows give me the willies roaring about your umpires. Why, you have a howling snap! Get into the American and nowing snap: Get into the American and you'll get a touch of real life.

"In the National you can at least go up and talk after a bum decision, but we have to carry cards of introduction to hold a conversation with His Hizness, the umples r to speak to an indicator man in our organization.

"McGraw used to have the National League umpires skinned to death. When I was with the Brooklyns we went down there one day and got the coldest deal ever recorded.

"The umpire, who was doing business,
had been to Baltimore before.
"He didn't like it a bit.
"There's a creek behind the grandstand there, and after one game in which the umpire in question failed to come up to Muggsy's requirements, the former was dropped into the creek.
"Just before our game, MrGraw walked up to him and asked him if he remembered
what happened to him once before.
"The umpire had a strong recollection and said so.
"Well, said Muggsy. If we don't win be what happened to him once before.

"The umpire had a strong recollection and said so.

"Well, said Muggsy, 'if we don't win this game, to the creek with you again, and you'll stay in longer than you did before."

"That game was a peach. There was nothing that umpire didn't do to beat us. Why, he stood near third base and so help me, he coached the Baltimore men to go home on any old chance and he'd call them safe, too.

"Lose, well I should say we did.
"But look at McGraw now. Whenever he opens his face, its to the bench with him, and a fine to boot.

"And all that has to be taken from men like Sheridan and Manassau, who have about as much right to ump re a game as a chimpanzee, They go through the motions, but haven't any idea of what they are about.

"Give me a national league umpire every time. You have a chance to keep your lungs going then.

ETHEL GOLDING OF LONG ISLAND

TELLS WOMEN HOW TO SWIM

BY ETHEL GOLDING.

By simply breathing as she would nat-urally, the pupil may stay an hour above water—and for hours as soon as she is ac-customed to it.

I am sure I could stay above water all day long.

People often ask me: "Well, why does anybody ever drown, then?"

Simply because they get frightened and do not breathe naturally. As soon as they are on land.

Impress this method of breathing upon the pupil first. Then have the pupil lie back upon the water, telling her at the same time two things:

1. That you are on no account going to loose your hold upon her.

2. That she need not worry about her Position in Water. Position in Water.

If this last injunction is not given every beginner will for some reason lower her chin and begin to watch her feet directly they leave the sand at the bottom. This fills the mouth with water at once.

The hand of the teacher should be placed gently upon the small of the pupil's back, just to give confidence, since almost no support is afforded.

The head is thrown back, the chin well up. Thus while the face is above water the rest of the body will be submerged.

The hands are held at the sides, motionless or gently beating the water. LESSON NO. 2.

It will take two or three lessons to accustom the pupil to the water. It is absolutely essential that she lose all fear for the time being, since as soon as she begins to learn the stroke, and when she is first left to herself in the water, fear is the only thing to be overcome.

The Whole Secret.

It onless or gently beating the water. At first, however, it is best to have the pupil confine her attention to her breathing and to getting used to the wonderful idea that she can stay above water. One of the pleasantest moments in learning to swim is when one first realizes that the can stay on the surface of the water. There is great exhilaration in the first knowledge that you are actually floating and are in perfect security and perfectly at ease.

Things to Remember.

Things to Remember. In teaching a pupil to float, these things should be remembered:

1. When her feet first leave the bottom, she should lie with her head toward the she should he water should be selected where the ground slopes gradually away from the shore.

3. If the pupil finds herself sinking, she must not struggle. This will only hasten her sinking. She must lie still and depend upon her teacher to support her.

4. Cork belts, air jackets and all such contrivances should be avoided. Don't Be Frightened.

All the pupil has to do is sainly titll and quite motionless.

Remember, if an arm or a foot be lifted from the water the rest of the body will it once sink a little.

PRAISE FROM THE ENEMY.

Lieut. Enriques Capriles, ex-Governor of Santiago, who was on board the Viscaya during the battle of Santiago, denounces with scorn the charge of cowardice brought against Schley. He says that the Brooklyn was magnificently handled and played a distinguished part in the fight. He adds, "there uldn't have been cowardice where the ship engaged three of ours." And he might have said, "sunk 'em.

This testimony of Lieut. Capriles is a repetition of that of all of the Spanish commanders, who ascribe their defeat chiefly to the Brooklyn and give its commander unstinted praise for gallantry and skill.

None of the Spanish commanders mention Sampson's part in the battle, but, come to think of it, he was not in the battle-he was 12 miles away on the New York, one of the swift ships depended upon to run down the Spanish cruisers.

Sampson's part in the battle consists of a successful effort to get his face on the commemorative medal and frequent attacks upon the man who was in the thick of the fight doing

FAMILY PHYSICIANS AND SPECIALISTS.

Dr. Martha Confield of Cleveland thinks that "the family physician should be employed at a stated salary." This was the lady's argument before the National Protective League at the meeting in Buffalo.

Dr. Canfield declares that specializing is now carried to such an extreme that the minds of many, especially nervous women, are filled with suggestions of disease. To correct this, the family physician should be reclaimed as a general age canal and get it to her neighbors. counsellor. He is supposed to know the antecedents, habits and constitution of his patient, knowledge acquired through years of acquaintance and observation. He is an experienced diagnostician and can moderate the zeal of the specialist, ing one in January. who sees his pet disease in everybody. The family physician uld decide in all emergencies whether or not to hand over his patient to the specialist.

Dr. Canfield's argument is certainly plausible. The family physician-he is not very numerous in these highly specialized times—was and probably is a wise man, who takes things easily and doesn't get "rattled." The specialist cannot fright en him and he won't permit his patients to be frightened. Whether or not family physicians would be satisfied with salaries is a question on which there might be a difference. A salary from a family whose members are never ill, would probably be satisfactory. But what about the people who re always ailing? How would the fees be commuted? This could probably be adjusted, however. But specialists are pretty sure to object. The Porters' Union might be re-enforced by a union of worms. The greatest difficulty will be to organize the worms into a union which will hold together. They are humble creatures, long habituated to submission. But if they will unite and all turn together the Pullman people may be persuaded to pay the wages of their employes.

Mayor Wells in his message emphasizes the necessity of charter amendments to prepare St. Louis for the World's Fair. There is work to be done in this direction. The people must be fully informed concerning the amendments and convinced of their merits and of the necessity of passing them. The campaign for New St. Louis has just begun.

WHY THE HEAT AND DROUTH?

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson thinks he has found out by this summer has been so full of tabasco and trouble. He believes that the ruthless stripping of our forests is steadily increasing the area of arid lands in the West and provoking long periods of drouth over large sections of the country, like the spell which has for weeks past menaced he corn crop of so many states.

Mr. Wilson is not alone in this opinion. Scientific men vho have made weather conditions a study have been telling us for many years that if we kept on chopping down our trees faster than we grew new ones to take their places we would eventually change our climate for the worse.

Forests are not only beautiful but useful. They do promote rainfall, or else all the expert authorities on the economy of nature are mistaken. We have been cutting down and consuming or exporting them at the rate of 18 billions of cubic feet of lumber every year. And as surely as this rate of chopping is kept up, unbalanced by systematic planting on reservations on a very large scale, our forests are doomed to disappear within the next 50 years.

Experts sent out by the Agricultural Department are now in the West making on investigation of forest conditions in the rainless sections, where the crops are dying of thirst. In order to give the farmers a chance to gather grain, and city people a chance to live in summer, Congress may yet have to say "Stop!" to the commercial destroyers of our forests, who are turning them into merchandise at the rate of over billion dollars a year.

The arrest of ten old maids in New York, whose ages range from 40 to 62, for making too much noise in their merriment. indicates that the supposed solitary condition of the ancient maiden is not so solitary as it seems. The old maid of the new century is evidently a joyous person, and capable of having "a good time" even in old age. Free from the in-numerable cares of maternity, and doubtless not unmated through any fault of her own, why should she not be happy?

"Cold-blooded Boer atrocities," reported by the English, are filling Britain with horror. The fact recalls the story of Elandslaagte, where Boer prisoners were slaughtered while begging for their lives. A British soldier wrote: "We bowled them ever, shricking and yelling. It was most delectable pig-sticking for half an hour or so, I assure you." As a great military authority once remarked, "War is sheel."

That Indiana son who took his mother, aged 98, to the poorhouse, and left her there, will possibly have the nerve to ask the old lady to leave him the $30,000,000 which is about to come to her from the estate of her brother in Pennsylvania after years of litigation. There is nothing like a mother's love, and every bad boy knows it.

-+++ President McKinley's reception of President Paul Kruger ought to be highly interesting. A little speech from our Presdent on the blessings of the republican form of government may have to be omitted. We have given the struggling republicans of South Africa no encouragement in their offorts to defend themselves from imperialism.

-+++ The grand display of the war machinery of all the world in St Louis in 1903 ought to be accompanied by a display of figures showing the cost of modern warfare. The other part of the Fair will be a striking suggestion of what could be done by diverting war funds to intellectual development and industrial advancement.

MAYOR'S FIRST MESSAGE IN VIGOROUS LANGUAGE

URGES A NEW ST. LOUIS

Concerning the World's Fair Mayor Wells Says That St. Louis Herself Must Be the Greatest Exhibit that his action was based upon the fact that funds are not available to carry out the plan.

He says he favors municipal ownership of all city lighting facilities and is prepared to aid movements to this end when the funds shall be obtainable.

The message in full follows:

Ang. 2, 1901.—To the Honorable the Municipal Assembly of the city of St. Louis: Gentlemenla accordance with my duty under the city charten. Liberewith submit to you for your consideration this, my first annual message, together with the reports of the heads of the various municipal departments for the established custom in the submitation of messages of this character for the mayor in suggest to the Assembly such matters of immediate local importance as seem to require remedial legislation. Following that custom, I beg to call the attention of the Assembly to a few matters that seem to me to be of more than passing interest at this time.

That a great World's Fair is to be held in our midst in the year 1903 is now a certainty. It is intended that this event, in celebration of the purchase of the Louisiana territory, of which territory St. Louis may well claim to be the metropolis, shall surpass all previous celebrations of a similar character. That it will do so none familiar with the spirit and energy of our citizens can doubt.

That it will do so more familiar with the spirit and energy of our citizens can doubt.

for an Exhibit.

But more must be done than merely this. St. Louis, the scene of the celebration, must constitute in herself the greatest of all the exhibits then to be displayed. She should put herself in order. She should prepare her gala attire and wear it from the day the gates of the Fair are first opened. To do so much work must be done, but if taken up in earnest and with a proper feeling of the civic pride that should be improved and moderinized so as to present an attractive appearance to the stranger, and remain after the Fair a source c. pleasure, comfort and satisfaction to ourselves. Our sewer system, upon which the health of the people so much depends, must be taken down.

Unfortunately, however, we are hampered in these undertakings by a charter, which, however well it was devised at the time of its adoption, has proven insufficient for the actual operations of our city government. There will soon be submitted to the people of the city corresponds to the reportion and satisfactions of our city government. of the railroads running into the station to complain.

They further said they thought that the biggest railway station in the United States was not the proper place for conducting a midway plaisance.

Manager McChesney of the Terminal Association had been of this opinion from the first, and when he heard from the railroad officials he determined to act.

In the beginning only one music box was placed in the station. That caused no complaint. It was placed there to entertain travelers who had hours to wait between trains.

Later the number of boxes was increased Later the number of boxes was increased to two, and then to three and more. An "automatic band," a "machine band," "bells and chimes," a "wonderful bird" and a few other contrivances were added to the collection.

Often they all played at once and the moved from the station on or before that effect was not exactly harmonious.

Train Caller Brown had difficulty making himself heard.

Then the mixed music brought mixed crowds. Travelers did not patronize the midway so much as small boys and girls from the city.

Arrests by the police to the number of 23,-480 were made in St. Louis during the fiscal year ending April 9, 1901, and the stolen property recovered amounted to $167,551.79.

The foregoing figures are contained in the fortieth annual report of the St. Louis police department, which has just been is sued.

They gathered there in crowds during the evenings and the Terminal attaches could not tell them to leave the station because they were putting their nickels in the slots.

The picture machines, likewise, drew the mixed crowds and were ordered out along with the music boxes.

The sheets were next put in a cutting machine, from which the bills came forth real money of the regulation size.

Mr. Forman and Teiler Bender, protected by several detectives, divided the notes among the banks of Kansas City, completing the circulation of the issue.

By this time most of the bills are doing money duty far away from the Kaw.

"Biggest Railway Station in the World Not the Place for a Midway Plaisance."

Mixed music and moving pictures are to be tabooed at Union Station after Sept. 1.

Manager McChesney of the Terminal Railway Association has issued an order that all the nickel-in-the-slot music and picture machines must be fethered.

Tytictor, Colo.

Michael Ryan recently died as the result of injuries sustained to his head from fall-ing rocks in a mine accident.

Of the sum left by him $50 is wages due him at the time of his death and $500 on a policy in the insurance department of the Independence mine. Like most men who have lived for years in the mountainous regions of the West, and the little that has been discovered about his relatives has not aided in locating them. His will, however, named John Ryan of St. Louis as beneficiary. Two years ago John Ryan was known to have been employed here as a street car motorman, but since then the executor of the estate has been unable to get trace of him.

Michael Ryan nad another brother, michael Ryan had another brother, Thomas, who is said to have been a farmer of farm laborer near Blomington, Ill., but his present whereabouts is not known.

The money left by Michael Ryan is on deposit in a bank in Victor, Colo., awaiting a claimant.

Both the music and the pictures belong to the Plow Candy Co., which has a contract for conducting a soda foundin and confectionery store in the station.

The mixed music and the mixed crowds it drew are said to have caused officials of the railroads running into the station to complain. The Paquin Immune Treatment makes drink so obnoxious that it cannot be retreatments. Endorsed by business firms and ministers of national reputation. Address

The police made 2244 arrests on charges of gamb ing. The convictions are not given. Out of 4015 persons arrested for being drunk on the streets 759 were women.

Something like 5926 laborers were locked up on various offenses, 829 teamsters, 458 gamblers. Two thousand seven hundred and thirty told the desk sergeant they were without visible means of support.

One hundred and sixty-seven persons were arrested as fugitives, of which number 154 were men and 13 women.

The total expenses of the police department amounted to 31,5-7,590. This includes the salaries of the chief of police, four commissioners, 12 captains, 12 lieutenants and all patrolmen, turnkeys, telephone operators, carpenters, painters and others regularly employed in the police department.

Then the work of printing the signatures and making real money out of the notes was begun.

Two presses were operated, and Mr. Forman stood at one and counted every theet printed, keeping a record of it and its denomination, and Telier P. G. Bender performed a similar task at the other.

Several detectives were stationed in and about the establishment to see that none of the bills found their way into the arteries of commerce prematurely.

The printing was accomplished without the mutilation or discoloration of one of the notes—a feat that Mr. Forman considers remarkable.

wall Street W YORK, Aug.	Week	ly 1			tions

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The wavering ductuations of prices and the insignificant volume of business in stocks this week have caused practical abstention from trading of the general public, and of large capitalists. The uncertainty over the steel strike settlement and the stagnation of demand for stocks has made the market soft and yielding to processional attack, but the light selling induced by declines has made the bears cautious about extensive commitments. The consequence has been condition of lethargy in the market and a small latly attendance of brokers at the board.

RANKIN'S TROUBLES

GOVERNMENT JOB AND COULDN'T LOSE IT.

Ran Off to Manila, Got Arrested, Was Shipwrecked, but Will Reach Home in Five Days From Frisco, Very Hungry.

pecial to the Post-Dispatch. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—A curio has been landed here. He is a New Jerseyman cific and starved on the Island of Guam, actually ran away from a government job He is David Rankin of Camden.

There is not so much wonder at his escape from death in the Pacific as there is that he fled to escape a place in the gov-ernment service he had worked hard to ob-tain, but was pursued and almost forced to return to it.

The job that Rankin fled to escape was that of naval storekeeper at the United States naval station on the Island of Guam, which a naval officer once described as being "halfway between hell and Yokohama."

ama."
Rankin got the job several months ago:
le was given a fine sendoff when he left amden. He duly chronicled his arrival letters to his friends, but didn't appear be so enthusiastic over the reality as bad been over the imaginary beauties cameen. He duly chroniced his arrival in letters to his friends, but didn't appear to be so enthusiastic over the reality as he had been over the imaginary beauties of Uncle Sam's little island in the Pacific. His second letter expressed a desire to return home. Guam, he wrote, wasn't anything like it had been represented to be. His third letter pleaded that influence be employed to get him out of place. He said he had tried to resign, but found out that under the law he couldn't. He could not even obtain a leave of absence. As a matter of course he discovered that he could not do anything and he wished to be back in Jersey again. In one of his letters he explained that he had been told that he could live in Guam for little or no expense. This, he said, was true, but he would willing'y give a month's salary for one good Jersey meal. He couldn't buy anything, and the stuff the got to eat was fit, he declared, only for the Guamites.

So anxious was he to get back to Jersey that he did not wait for a government transport, but salled for home in the little ship Lennox. Rankin was in the wreck of the Lennox when about 200 miles from the Golden Gate. He and six other men decided to reach California in a lifeboat, which they provisioned for a month. The boat drifted around in the trackless waste for two days, when she was sighted by the government tugboat Loomis, which had been sent out to look for the Lennox. Rankin and his companions were landed in safety. The first thing that Rankin did was to telegraph his friends at Camden that he would be home in five days and that he

HER LETTER OFFERED PECUNI ARY ASSISTANCE.

The Judge Is Committed for Contempt in Refusing to Give His Deposition and Mrs. Brackett Is Awaiting the Outcome.

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 3.—Sensational charges were made in the District Court here against Judge F. W. Harney, who recently decided the noted Minnie Healey by Heinze for the purpose of endeavoring to influence him in the decision, but that he would not be and was not influenced by her.

Several letters that passed between the judge and Mrs. Bracket while the case was on trial have been intercepted and copies of them are attached to the application filed in court.

One reads as follows:

"Dearest: Your future concerns me personally because I love you and hope to live here for some years at least, and if I can see you and if you are successful in every way, both financially and in your reputation, it means happiness and success to me. You say I might say anything to you and I am taking you at your word.

"In the first place, dearle, all that is asked of you by me or anyone is to be absolutely impartial and free in your decisions and not to get tied up to anybody so that you are afraid to be anything but honest.

"Now, I don't for one minute think you would be willing to accept money for any of your decisions. I could not like you so much if you would and I would not vexyou by suggesting it—but let me teil you, dearle, that if you are in debt and some money would make you freer, I will gladly let you have what money I have for the sake of relieving you from any pressure.

"As for your future after you leave the bach, if you will allow me, I am empowered to promise you certain things which will assure that most generously. As for momey I would rather let you have mine, both for the sake of your future and myewn (because your future is mine) than to have you hampered for the need of it. This offer is made to you with all my heart. This is not to influence you, it is entirely for the purpose of preventing you from being influenced either way and to let you know that nothing need be considered in this matter except your own convictions.

"Dearest, I will never mention this letter to you unless you choose to speak of it to me."

"I have only your good at heart. Let me see you or write me a nice, kind, frank letter today. Aiways yours.
